

JACKIE BROWN - YOUR VOICE YOUR CHOICE!

Listing text:

I provide you with a vast selection of different vows, readings and poetry for you to choose from in order to make your ceremony your own personal inspiration.

From your choices I will create a unique ceremony that will express your own style and values. You are welcome to write your own personal vows to each other and may like to use some of the material I can provide you with as a guideline.

I offer assistance via email and telephone leading up to your wedding day plus a 160 page book.

At the ceremony I provide a mobile microphone and amplifier ensuring all your guests will hear the ceremony clearly, I can play your selection of music via my ipod and amp. I supply a signing table, ostrich pens set in a driftwood holder, cast iron stand with rustic lantern for the lighting of the unity candle.

My soule mate and husband is also a photographer for those special memories of your wedding day that will last forever.

Many testimonials available!

Whether it be on a sandy beach, on a boat, in the comfort of your own backyard, in the native bush, a chapel or anywhere else your heart desires, I endeavour to make your wedding day as special as possible for you.

Your wedding day is about you, and is a day that you share just together, or with your family and close friends, a day that can never be recaptured. So it is very important that the ceremony be created especially for you!

Drop me an email or ring me and we can meet for a coffee and discuss the next chapter in your journey through this spectacular life!
